California Notice at Collection: Employees, Contractors, and Applicants
Last updated: November 10, 2023

The California Consumer Privacy Act, as amended by the California Privacy Rights Act (collectively CPRA) gives California residents who are employees, contractors, and job applicants the right to know what categories of personal information we collect and the purposes for which we use that information.

This employee, contractor, and applicant notice (“Notice”) addresses California-specific requirements and serves as our California notice at collection. We may update this Notice from time to time. If we make material changes, we will revise the Last Updated date above, which will serve as ongoing notice of such changes. We encourage you to review this Notice regularly to stay informed about our information management practices and the choices available to you.

If you are a resident of California, this Notice, together with our Digital Privacy Policy (DPP) and Notice of Privacy Practices (NPP), may apply to you.

- For corporate governance, including mergers, acquisitions, and divestitures.
- Marketing purposes include developing and providing promotional and advertising materials that may be useful, relevant, valuable, or otherwise of interest to you.
- Processing your job application.
In addition to the purposes identified above, we may use and disclose any and all Personal Information that we collect as necessary or appropriate to:

- Comply with laws and regulations, including (without limitation) applicable tax, health and safety, anti-discrimination, immigration, labor and employment, and social welfare laws.
- Monitor, investigate, and enforce compliance with and potential breaches of Company policies and procedures and legal and regulatory requirements.
- Comply with civil, criminal, judicial, or regulatory inquiries, investigations, subpoenas, or summons.
- Exercise or defend the legal rights of Company and its employees, affiliates, customers, contractors, and agents.

Personal Information that we “Share,” “Sell,” or Use for “Targeted Advertising”

Under California law, a “sale” includes disclosing or making available Personal Information to a third party (other than a service provider or contractor) in exchange for monetary or other valuable consideration, and “sharing” includes disclosing or making available Personal Information to a third party for cross-context behavioral advertising.

We may allow certain third parties, such as analytics or online advertising service providers, to collect your browsing activity on our websites and applications in a manner that may be deemed to involve a “sale” or “sharing” of personal information under California law.

The following table provides appropriate details on the categories of Personal Information that we “sell” or “share”:
